Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from An Appeal to the Congress of the United States Mr. Editor: It has been said, and that in high places, that even under the extreme aggravation to which Georgia has been aroused, and which it would seem ought to make us all of one mind, as one man, there are to be two parties in the coming election for delegates to the State Convention. I am unwilling to think so, I have yet to believe that Georgia contains within her borders any respectable number of men who would, in her present exigency, think for one moment of quietly submitting to the rule of a man hostile to the very foundation of our social system. Understand me, I refer to abject submissionists, Unionists at any hazard, and to the end of the chapter. If there are any such, they are Georgia s foster children, and not born of her. They are her Catalines, her Arnolds, and the sooner the veil is torn from the dark designs of their unnatural bosoms, the better will it be for the honor of our State. But I cannot believe that a corporal s guard of men so low, so servile, so degraded, so lost to shame, and insensible to wrong and insult, could be drummed up from Dade to Ware. If there be any, they had better keep out of the track of the whirlwind of defiant indignation that is now sweeping the length and breadth of this State. Such cringing submission will be held to be either cowardice or knavery, and the hour of retribution will soon overtake them. He who is not in our favor of resistance in...
